DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

1. The information disclosure statements (IDS) submitted on 11/23/04; 7/20/05 are considered.

Double Patenting

2. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

3. Claims 1-20 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-68 of U.S. Patent No. 6,679,909. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claims of the present invention being anticipated by the claimed invention of the patent.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1-3,7,8,10,11,13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Yoon (5,730,725). Yoon discloses a catheter system comprising an inner member (16) having spring or expanding member (85 of fig. 4A/B or 333 of fig. 12) and an outer member (18) a wall opening (the opening for receiving the end 90 of member 85 or 327 of fig. 12), a tubular sleeve (20) as claimed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fischell et al. (5,792,144) in view of Snyder, Jr. (3,880,483). Fischell et al. disclose all the limitations of the claims except for a presence of locking mechanism having an expanding member as claimed. Snyder, Jr. discloses a locking mechanism comprising an expanding member as claimed (fig. 18-22) in order interlock the first and second members from rotational movement. Therefore, it would have been obvious matter of design choice to modify the Fischell et al.'s locking mechanism (67) by having the locking mechanism being made from expandable spring. Doing so would amount to mere substitution of one known locking mechanism for an other which would perform equally well in Fischell et al.'s delivery system.

Regarding the material of the expanding member as claimed, it is well known in the art to make the spring of Fischell et al. in view of Snyder, Jr from the material as claimed in order to provide flexibility, strength and biocompatible for the locking mechanism. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to make the spring of Fischell et al. in view of Snyder, Jr from the material as claimed in order to provide flexibility, strength and biocompatible for the locking mechanism.
